Introduction:

E-Mail: iq@cmc.iq
Registration policies apply to all domains and sub-domains which end with the suffix (.IQ). They set out mutual rights and obligations between CMC and Registrant.

Objective:
The policy aims at developing provisions to regulate CMC-issued domain names registration process.

First-Come, First-Served:
- Domain name shall be assigned under (First-Come, First-Served) basis, i.e. applications shall be processed by CMC domain name management system in the order they were received without partiality or favoritism.
- In case two or more eligible applications were received for the same domain name, the applicant whose application was received first shall be prioritized.

Use of Accredited Registrar to CMC:
- Domain name Applicant shall choose an accredited licensee by the CMC to act on behalf of the Applicant in dealing with domain name management system.
- Applications may be submitted to CMC by hand or by email.

Domain Name Selection:
Applicant’s selection of a domain name must meet CMC policy requirements as set out in this document or any other policy, decision, or order by CMC.

Domain Name Registration Period Selection:
Registration validity: (1-2 Year) subject to renewal after period expiration.

Applicant’s Responsibility for Domain Name:
- Registration of a domain name shall not result in any intellectual property right or any other rights of such name or its parts.
- Applicant is responsible for verifying its eligibility to use a domain name, and that its registration or usage of a name does not infringe others’ intellectual property rights or any other similar rights, nor does it harm any person’s reputation or contradicts with applicable laws in Iraq.

No Domain Name Restrictions:
No restrictions imposed on the number of domain name registrations made by an Applicant as long as this document or other CMC policies observed.

Domain Name Application:
- CMC policies set forth domain name application requirements. Accredited registrars shall ensure their applications meet CMC policy requirements.

- Domain name Applications which do not meet the policy requirements shall be disregarded by CMC regardless of any data provided by an accredited registrar or other parties.

- CMC reserves the right to reject any application which contradicts with the CMC policies, provisions, or instructions.

Reserved Words, Domain Names:

- CMC reserves a database of the words which are not allowed to be registered in CMC domain name registration system. Words reservation applies to the English language used in the system.
  - contradiction with applicable laws and regulations in Iraq,
  - preserving Iraq’s religious, moral, and social values,
  - becoming a second-level domain to enable registering third-level domain names,
  - observing generally-accepted technical standards,
  - any other reasonable reasons to protect the country.

- A list of the reserved words shall be kept to CMC domain name system. The list includes the following by the way of example and not limitation:
  - names of Iraqi governmental departments and institutions,
  - abbreviated names of Iraq’s local areas or neighborhoods,
  - names of world’s states

  - Domain name applications shall be verified vs. the list supra.

- CMC may, at its own discretion:
  - add, delete, amend, or change the list of reserved words from time to time pursuant to recommendations by governmental entities in Iraq.
  - enlist any word at any time to the list,
  - register a domain name which contains a reserved name,
  - allow keeping a registration with a reserved name,
  - revoke a domain name which contains a reserved name.

- CMC may reject, revoke, or suspend any application/ domain name which CMC deems to be fallen, deliberately or inadvertently, within the reserved words for:
  - affecting public morals, violation of public order, or contradiction with religion,
  - deceiving the public,
  - involvement in fraudulent or illegal activity,
  - contradiction with Iraq’s interests/security,
  - being a name of a governmental organization
  - being a name of well-known figure (unless with prior permission of the figure concerned).
  - conformity with another word/name added or to be added from time to time to the reserved words list
